Einhorn and Kohler Families Papers, 1859 November 6-1946
accessionnumber: AM 2019-32

Arrangement: Arranged by family member.

Description: Consists of a group of family papers connected to Jewish Reform movement leaders David Einhorn (1809-1879) and Kaufmann Kohler (1843–1926), German-born rabbis active in the United States in the 19th and early 20th centuries, respectively. The bulk of the materials comprise papers of Kaufmann Kohler, who was David Einhorn's son-in-law by way of his marriage to Johanna Einhorn Kohler (1848-1932). Kohler's papers include professional and personal correspondence, writings, a personalized wedding and funeral manual, family photographs, documents, and clippings. There is also a group of papers belonging to Kohler's wife, Johanna Kohler, including correspondence, speeches, prayers, and other writings; as well as some correspondence of their children, sculptor Rose Kohler (1873-1947) and lawyer Max James Kohler (1871-1934). Materials related to David Einhorn include a manuscript draft of an 1859 sermon, a group of letters to Johanna and Kaufmann Kohler, and obituaries and a funeral sermon for his wife, Julie Ochs Einhorn (1817-1909).

David Einhorn Papers, 1859 November 6-1876

Creator: Einhorn, David, 1809-1879

Sermon Draft, 1859 November 6

Description: Manuscript draft of a sermon (9 pages) about the similarity of numerical relationships taking place between the order of the visible world and the invisible spiritual world.

Letters to Johanna and Kaufmann Kohler, 1873-1876

Description: Consists of three letters and two letter fragments from David and Julie Einhorn to their daughter Johanna and her husband, Kaufmann Kohler, in New York. The letters regard family news as well as theological and rabbinical matters and current events, including Einhorn’s notes and criticisms of articles by Kohler and (Bernard) Felsenthal, the "Young America" movement supported by Stephen A. Douglas, and comments on Isaac Mayer Wise, Henry (Hayyim Gershon) Vidaver, Moses Mielziner, Marcus Jastrow, Felix Adler, and Gustav Gottheil. Some letters were scribed by Einhorn's daughter on his behalf.

Obituaries and Funeral Sermon for Julie Ochs Einhorn, 1909

Description: Consists of clippings of obituaries and a published funeral sermon by Kaufmann Kohler for Julie Ochs Einhorn, the wife of David Einhorn.
